

Training and Teaching on Ethical Values

Jordan University of Science and Technology (JUST) provides training/teaching based on the ethical values (e.g., diversity, honesty, respect, fairness) to all students and staff. This aligns well with JUST vision and mission, and the 2022-2026 strategic plan.

1. Target audience: faculty and staff

Training workshops conducted at JUST to establish, enhance and facilitate a holistic ethical organizational culture (2024).

Workshop Title	Start Date	End Date	Contact Hours	Number of Participants	Educational Objectives

2. Target audience: students at all levels and programs of study

All students at JUST are required to take compulsory courses that address the ethical values mentioned earlier. Examples include communication skills, leader and social responsibility, entrepreneurship and innovation, and life skills. These courses are explicitly listed in the university regulations (available through this link)

In addition, each department/faculty offers a compulsory 2- or 3- credit hour course that is focused on ethics and ethical principles. These courses are tailored to the needs of the students at each faculty. Examples include:
